

Kelly Kettle Co via amazonses.com to me ▾

Wed, 16 Mar, 16:44 ☆ ↶ ⋮

Hi there,

What will you be doing on March 17th?

We're looking forward to spending St. Patrick's Day in a more normal way than we have for the last few years. With restrictions easing here in Ireland, communities are gearing up to host the first parades and festivals since 2019.

But as wonderful as all the excitement is, when it comes to celebrating the Emerald Isle you can't forget the stunning landscapes that make Ireland special every day of the year: think of the majestic Cliffs of Moher, the rugged Wicklow Mountains or the gentle Fermanagh Lakelands.

Our great-grandfather first designed the Kelly Kettle back in the 1890s so that he could make the most of the time he spent fishing on Lough Conn here in Co. Mayo.

Since then it's been the outdoor friend of countless people as they've enjoyed the Irish scenery. We still see this today in the photographs that Kelly Kettle users submit to our Memory Maker Competition. Here are just a few of our favourite Irish-set pictures for the month that's in it.

Donegal - Tony Smith sent us this photo from a Donegal beach to remind us "It's never too warm for a warm cup of coffee!"

Wild Atlantic Way - Ireland's most famous tourism trail provides countless locations to light up your Kettle. Ciarán Bogie has found a good one to enjoy a refreshing cup of tea.

Lakes of Killarney - Thanks to Gerry Geaney for this shot of an afternoon picnic in the heart of the Kingdom of Kerry.

Beara Peninsula, Co. Cork - Susan O' Sullivan's family share a love of angling. And wherever they go, their Kelly Kettle comes with them.

Lough Gowna, Co. Cavan - Karen Donaldson has perfectly captured the peace and relaxation of a long summer's evening by the lake.

BE PART OF THE TRADITION

Where in Ireland have you lit up your Kelly Kettle? Or, if you haven't had the chance, where in Ireland would you love to do so? Do reply and let us know!

And if you don't have a kettle yet, this is the perfect time to take a look at our traditional model: The Base Camp.

The Base Camp Kettle: Stainless Steel

This durable kettle is the same size as the tin version that was first used on the shore of Lough Conn, all those years ago.

The design has stood the test of time and we've added some small changes over the years to make it even better. Watch your kettle last for many, many adventures thanks to the durability of stainless steel.

And our popular green whistle will let you know exactly when your water's ready - meaning you can keep your focus on the scenery and company.

As a small, family-owned company, we're proud to be delivering high-quality, Irish-designed products worldwide.

DISCOVER MORE

So whatever you get up to this St. Patrick's Day and wherever you are in the world, we hope you'll get a moment to enjoy the beauty of the great outdoors.

Until next time,
Patrick and Séamus

P.S. Make sure to order directly through the website to get the best deals and shipping within one working day.

If you live in the United States, visit www.kellykettleusa.com for your best possible shopping experience.

You are receiving our newsletter because you opted-in for it when you purchased something on one of the Kelly Kettle Websites or opted in to our Newsletter there.

If this was not you or done in error, please use this Unsubscribe link below and we will remove you immediately. We send Newsletters sparingly and don't use outdoor agencies/lists or spam.

Click here to unsubscribe

← Reply

➡ Forward